Governor Meets City With Grin

BY CARROLL WILSON

Texas Gov. Preston Smith met Canyon with a grin and a hand-shake Monday as he hustled for 2 1/2 hours from a dedication to a reception and luncheon here.

Sporting a Western-style hat, the governor solemnly dedicated Hero Field, a Reserve Officer Training Corps physical training field here.

He also proclaimed Monday through Sunday as ROTC Week in Texas.

"We are not celebrating war or victory," he said, "but the dedication of patriotic men and the concept of the educated, citizen-soldier."

Before members of the West Texas State University ROTC department's Angel Corps, Nighthawks, Boys Drill Team and band, Gov. Smith unveiled the sign at Hero Field, which is named in honor of WTSU ROTC graduates killed in Vietnam.

"We come here today to pay tribute to the West Texas State University ROTC graduates who have given their lives in Vietnam," he said. "But through them we honor all the gallant men who have sacrificed so much in defense of their country and the ideals that we all hold dear.

"Though none of us gathered here today, I am sure, condone war of any sort, we must recognize the contributions and the selflessness of the fighting men who have insured the preservation of our liberties."

Met at the field by Lt. Col. Billy R. Smith, professor of military science at WTSU, the Governor called on those present to celebrate this week the 150th anniversary of ROTC on college campuses.

Calling college ROTC a concept and reality that is with us today because it works, Gov. Smith said "it is one which exists because the well-educated officer has furthered the American tradition of the citizen-soldier and civilian control over the military forces.

"This recently completed physical training field for ROTC cadets is a well-deserved monument to the military personnel from West Texas State who have made the ultimate sacrifice for their fellow citizens," he said. "And that means more than all the words I could speak."

Following the dedication, the governor was received in the West Cafeteria on the WTSU campus by several hundred well-wishers and even students.

During the luncheon he told the about 200 civic club members and university personnel that Texas government "cannot effectively deal with the urban problems, without also dealing with the rural problems."

The governor cited air pollution, water pollution, overcrowded conditions, traffic hazards and decay of downtown centers as major problems facing the state's larger cities.

"If we continue to worry about urban problems in a relatively exclusive way, without

Museum To Build Annex

Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum executive committee met last week and voted to build a $360,000 vehicular exhibits building just east of the National Guard Armory.

Museum Director C. Boone McClure said the building actually will be a transportation and agricultural museum.

McClure said that since it will be constructed on state property and will belong to the state a green light from the board of regents will be necessary before proceeding with plans for the building.

Funds for construction will be raised through donations and through issuing of revenue bonds. The museum director said that if revenue bonds are required it will be necessary to have an admission charge at the new building.

He said the structure will have about 30,000 square feet of floor space and will house plows, automobiles, carriages and other vehicles and agricultural equipment of by-gone eras.

The museum already owns a collection of 29 carriages which are being repaired. These and other vehicles presently are being stored in the National Guard Armory because there is no room at the present museum building to display them.

McClure said the museum may obtain a collection which represents a cross-section of Texas carriages.

Mrs. Joe Black, an election official during Tuesday's city sales tax balloting here, indicates to a voter the proper voting procedures and the ballot. The sale tax passed by a 65 per cent margin and will go into effect April 1, 1970.

Canyon will have a one per cent city sales tax as a result of balloting Tuesday.

The sales tax was accepted overwhelmingly by city voters. The vote was 406 for and 143 against.

The total, 549, was about 285 short of the record vote which turned out last April during regular city elections. It reflected about 26 1/2 per cent of the registered voters in the city.

The measure passed Tuesday will take effect April 1, 1970. At that time, a one-cent per dollar tax will be assessed on all items now taxed by the state government. The taxes will also be collected by existing state government agencies and monies will be returned to the city on a quarterly basis.

City officials said the tax will bring about $100,000 into city coffers.

As a result of the vote, Canyon property owners will pay a lower ad valorem tax next year. Mayor Paul Lindsey said effective Jan. 1, 1970, the ad valorem taxes will be lowered 15 cents, from $1.60 per $100 evaluation to $1.45 per $100 evaluation.

The City Commission passed a resolution calling for the ad valorem tax reduction at the same time they called for the city sales tax election.

"I'm grateful for the interest people have expressed in this issue," said Mayor Lindsey. "I'm really pleased they have spoken their feelings and did investigate the facts to vote for what they were convinced was of economic merit."

The mayor said he feels the turnout reflected a representative sampling of feeling of local residents.

"I'm very grateful to the people, but I really don't know how to express my gratitude," he said.

The commission is expected to canvass the election returns tonight at their regular meeting. They must submit a notice of approval of the sales tax to the state comptroller before Jan. 1, 1970.

The vote was relatively light in view of the total of about 2,100 registered voters in the

3 Area Entities Eye Commission

As many as three governmental entities in the local area have expressed a desire to join the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, it was revealed Wednesday.

R. G. Mills, chairman of the PRPC, said he has had three inquiries from North Plains governmental units.

Last week the Canadian Water District inquired about becoming a member of the unit.

In connection with the enlistment of other members, Judge E. H. Foster, a commission member, presented an informal report on dues structure for special districts which might seek membership.

Foster presented no resolution pertaining to dues because he said the finance committee of PRPC has not yet met.

However, he said in other regional planning commissions, the average rate for school districts to join is between $100 and $300 based on enrollment. Other districts also pay about that much in other commissions.

Randall County Commissioner Bill Butler asked the Commission to include in its last meeting's minutes the following statement:

"Butler expressed that this commission was created with the understanding that no budget or executive director would actually be needed..."

The minutes of the last meeting were amended to read as such, but only after Mills said the comments were purely personal opinion.

The commission voted to op-

Court Reluctantly Okays PRPC Fund Allocation

Randall County Commissioners reluctantly allocated about $1,800 to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission Monday, but made it clear they still do not favor either a PRPC budget or the hiring of an executive director for the planning entity.

With Commissioner Clarence Beckman abstaining, three commissioners hesitantly voted to allocate $1,817 to PRPC, but only under certain stipulations.

Randall commissioners have been in a quandry for two weeks about whether to allocate the funds and thereby retain membership in the PRPC, or whether to drop out of the planning organization altogether.

Seemingly tied by a mid-September resolution favoring formation of PRPC provided it had no budget or non-elected officials, the Randall commission has been reluctant to okay any funds for the PRPC.

But, Commissioner Bill Butler introduced the Monday resolution, which he said "is in line with our original thinking."

Butler's resolution is as follows:

"On the condition that the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission pass a resolution that the participating governmental units will not be asked to contribute in excess of 3 cents per capita within one year from the time of organization of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission,

"And upon further condition that a full-time executive director will not be employed within one year from the time of such organization without the affirmative vote of 2/3rds of the governmental entities represented on the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission on Nov. 17, 1969, I move that the Randall County Commissioners Court approve the allocation of the sum not to exceed $1,817, the same being 3 cents per capita on an estimated population of 6,566, as its portion of the expense of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission for such one-year period."

The four governmental units in the PRPC--Randall County, Potter County, Amarillo and Canyon- have been asked to contribute a pro rata share of $10,000 to the organization.

Butler said he intends his resolution to mean that on paper the court will have allocated $1,817, which will be given the PRPC upon request for office supplies.

Commissioner Glenn Dowlen voted for the resolution even though a motion presented by him just a few minutes earlier was turned down.

His motion stated that "because the Commissioners Court approved the Randall County budget with the understanding that the PRPC would require no substantial cost to Randall

Band Policy Is Anticipated

BY PAUL BASCUS

The future policy of Canyon Independent School District regarding the wearing of arm bands by students and other things considered by school officials to be disrupting to the "learning atmosphere" were to be discussed at Wednesday night's school board meeting.

A policy established by Supt. Jerry Jacobs prohibiting the wearing of arm bands for the purpose of drawing attention was overturned last Friday by 181st Dist. Judge Don Dean, who quoted a U. S. Supreme Court ruling holding that wearing arm bands was an exercise of the right of freedom of speech.

"This matter has been taken under advisement," Jacobs said Tuesday. "It will probably be taken up by the school board. We are not going to let this type of thing disrupt the school or disrupt classes."

On the specific matter of students wearing arm bands, such as was done by two girl students last Friday, Jacobs said, "We may permit that, I don't know, because the Supreme Court has ruled the way it has."

The arm bands were worn by Rebecca Jo Allen, 16, a Canyon High junior, and her little sister Barbara Ann, 15, a junior high school student, in observance of last Friday's Moratorium on the Vietnam War. On Oct. 15 a number of students who wore arm bands to school were given the choice of taking them off or leaving school.

Mrs. Ann Allen, the two girls' mother, petitioned the court to grant a temporary injunc-

Fiery Freshmen To Test Varsity In Game Tonight

West Texas State University's 1969-70 basketball program will pass in review at 8 p.m. today in Buffalo Fieldhouse with the playing of the first annual Varsity-Freshman scrimmage.

The game-like scrimmage will be open, free of charge, to all Buffalo followers.

The varsity returns three starters from last year's club which won 18 games and lost only eight and competed in the National Invitational Tournament.

Leading the returners are 6-5 James McCloud, 6-3 Dale Blaut and 5-11 Don Howle. McCloud was the club's third leading scorer and second top rebounder last season. He tallied 14.1 points per game and pulled down 9.5 rebounds per contest.

Blaut averaged 11.3 points per game and Howle 5.9. Johnny Burkhalter, 6-11 junior, and 6-7 junior college transfer Eddie Fitzgerald are battling for the post position. Other key varsity performers are 5-8 David Cole and 6-6 Gene Murdock.

Gone from the squad are the school's second and third leading scorers. All-American Simmie Hill, the third leading scorer in the school's history, is playing for the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association and Mike Mitchell, the number two man, is a graduate assistant coach for the Buffs.

The freshman have standout talent in the likes of 6-7 Jerry Christian, 6-6 Scott Doores, 6-4 Rick Batiste, 6-0 Mike Rodriguez and 6-6 Cleotis Reece.

Christian is from East Liverpool, Ohio, and is a former all-stater. Doores was a standout for Perryton High School last year as that club reached the Class AAA state finals.

Batiste gained a bushel basket full of honors while attending high school in Los Angeles and Rodriguez, a standout shooter, is from San Gabriel, Calif. Reece, from Houston, entered West Texas at the semester last year and boosted the freshman team. He becomes eligible for the varsity at the semester this year.

Other freshman players are 6-3 Steve Butler of Canyon and Bob Thorpe of Dumas.

The Buffalo varsity opens its season in Abilene against Hardin-Simmons Dec. 1.

Tulia Coach Just Wants To Score On Tough Canyon

Tulia Coach Richard Souter said this week he is worried about whether or not his team can even score against Canyon's tough defense in Friday night's season capper for both teams.

"Their defense is real tough," Souter said. "I look for Canyon to score quite a bit against us, but I don't know if we can even score against that defense of theirs."

He said the Eagle offense had improved a great deal since the first of the season and that he was especially impressed with their defensive play against Hereford.

Souter said the Canyon club would be bigger than his.

"We only have one boy over 200 pounds," Souter said. "All the rest are 160 and 150 pounders."

Coach Dunny Goode of the Eagles was impressed with the running of Hornet ace Jerry Dickens after viewing Tulia game films.

Coach Goode said the Eagles would pull all the stops to win Friday night's game which could give Canyon its first winning season since it entered into AAA competition six years ago.

Goode told members of the Eagle Booster Club Tuesday night he is grateful for their support through the season and he praised Eural Ramsey for his work as club president.

Goode said he anticipates a good last game of the season Friday night.

The Eagles, 4-4-1 for the season, walloped winless Muleshoe last Friday 55-6.

"Our first group played 1 1/2 quarters," Goode said. Outstanding backs in the game were Robert Bull who amassed a fantastic 226 yards in 12 carries, David Erwin who carried 10 times for 114 yards and Al Bayless with 96 yards in 16 carries.

Erwin and tackle Calvin Yarbrough received the highest grades on offense while Darrel Brietling led the defense in the coaches movie grading system.

Junior varsity coach Clark Mires said his undefeated team was tired, some of the members sick and others hurt, but that they wanted to win badly in their final outing tonight.

The JV Eagles will go against Perryton at Phillips.

"This is the first time all season I sincerely felt we didn't have a 50-50 chance," Mires said. "I hope you'll come to Phillips and support us. I think you'll be proud of the boys."

A. R. Potts, security officer at West Texas State University was the winner of an expense-paid trip to see the Dallas Cowboys in a special fund-raising project sponsored by the Booster Club. The project raised about $700.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Freshman District Judge Don Dean had one of the toughest cases Friday that he is likely ever to face on the bench.

Dean ruled in favor of two Canyon school youngsters who sought an injunction to allow them to wear arm bands in school.

The new judge really had no choice in the matter. It already had been settled by a 7-2 decision from the Supreme Court of the US in the Tinker vs. Des Moines Community School.

In a calm voice Judge Dean told the girls, Rebecca Jo and Barbara Ann Allen, that his decision did not give them license to cause a commotion at the school.

The case was tough for Judge Dean because he was forced by precedent to render a decision likely to be unpopular in conservative Canyon. In fairness, I think any judge who might have been on the bench would have done likewise.

US News & World Report this week says the war protest movement may have hit its crest Nov. 13. A poll taken Nov. 14 by Sindlinger & Company, a marketing and opinion-research firm, shows that almost 8 out of 10, or 79.2 percent of those polled, support the President.

In the face of it all, two leading Democrats---Muskie and Humphrey by name---had the gall Monday to brand as a myth the "silent majority" referred to by Mr. Nixon.

Mrs. E. A. Stocker called this week to endorse the editorial in The Sunday News.

Mrs. Stocker is the mother of Danny Stocker who lost his life in Vietnam.

"When is someone going to demonstrate for winning in Vietnam?" Mrs. Stocker asked.

Governor Preston Smith made a hit in Canyon. The people liked him and he liked the people.

I've known the governor a long time and I've never seen him so pleased. Walking among the people who crowded around him in West Dining Hall Monday on the West Texas State campus, Preston Smith was in his habitat.

He was not a condescending John Connally who walked among the people with patrician condescension. He was a Texas-style Harry Truman who obviously IS one of the people.

I think the people who met him Monday went away with a feeling of affection for this plain-spoken man who is their governor. Because of Republican strength in Randall, Preston Smith may not carry the county next year but the final count will be a far cry from the two to one by which he lost it last year.

Ben Barnes is toying with the idea of trying Smith on for size next year but if he's smart he will run for re-election.

I predict that Smith will be unbeatable.

Barnes has never really been tried at the polls. If he plays it cool he'll be governor some day. If he runs next year he will diminish his chances of ever attaining the office.

Vice-President Spiro Agnew set off a furor of criticism last week when he told the truth on television newscasters.

Anyone who has ever listened to a network news broadcast knows that there is more editorial comment than news on those shows....and it always leans to the left.

Heads of the three networks yelled foul at the top of their high-paid voices but the reason they were so chargrined was because they know they were caught with their hands in the cooky jar.

They all cried out in the name of freedom of the press but not in a thousand years can video liken itself to the printed word.

In the first place, there is little chance for depth in television reporting. In the second place, people do not have a chance to go back and review the spoken word as they do the printed word.

But of not the least importance is the fact that while anyone with the price of a printing press and a few hundred dollars worth of typesetting equipment can put out a newspaper of sorts, radio and television frequencies are limited and they belong to ALL the people.

Television and radio commentators have no more moral right to use the people's air waves to push a point of view than they do to use any other public facility for the same cause.

I don't advocate censorship but maybe the laws of equal time for rebutal should be broadened. If something is not done, television could become the monster which eventually devours the people's right to know.

I think that Congress should pass a law which would make it a finable offense and eventually grounds for license suspension for commentators to voice opinion without first having clearly labeled it as such.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

Parenthood is a divine privilege; it is also a grave responsibility. However, many persons assume parenthood--willingly or unwillingly--with no thought concerning the eternal ramifications of bringing a new life into the world.

It is almost incredible that so many seemingly mature adults are apparently unaware of the duties and privileges of parents. Parents mold each new life that is entrusted into their care in such a way that it will be a blessing or a curse to the world. It is doubtful that any human being passes through this world without adding to or taking from the joys of it.

It is essential to human happiness to have someone to love. And one learns to love by being loved. An unloved, rejected child is almost certain to strike out in anger and frustration at his associates.

Freedom and happiness is man's birthright. Yet how many people are either free or happy? Many are imprisoned by debts, poverty, or ignorance. Others are so shackled by family, professional, or social obligations that life become unbearable.

The pathetic, unwashed hippie hordes are actually lonely, frightened youngsters vainly searching for happiness. Man, like every other creature in the Universe, has rules he must live by if he is to be happy. It is the responsibility of parents to teach children the rules that will guide them into happy, productive lives.

The fact that children will probably feel toward their Creator exactly as they do toward their parents should be enough to inspire all parents to strive toward perfection. But, unfortunately, many parents are not interested in their Creator or their children; their sole interest is in themselves.

However, the majority of parents are probably sincerely trying to live up to their responsibilities. If they are to be successful, they should begin training each child at birth. A good rule to follow is to allow the child to do exactly as he pleases--as long as he does not infringe on the rights of others.

A child who does not learn to respect the rights of others is as sure to bring trouble on himself as he is to trouble his fellows. His parents should see to it that when he inflicts pain upon others, pain is immediately inflicted upon him.

Discipline is essential to human happiness. And it is much more comfortable to acquire it as a child than to have to discipline oneself as an adult.

Proper training can only be given through love. Any discipline that parents cannot apply through love, probably should not be applied at all.

Beginning with the new-born, parents should never give a command that cannot be carried out immediately. When mother says to the infant, "Let's eat," she should promptly place food in his mouth. When she says, "Let's take a bath," she should immediately place him in the bath water.

When dinner is announced, the toddler should be placed in his highchair; when he is told to go to bed, he should be put to bed. If this routine is consistently practiced with the infant, obedience will usually be automatic with the older child.

A child should never be commanded to go to sleep, smile, or quit crying, because such commands cannot be enforced. Any unenforced command undermines parental authority.

Children should acquire independence as rapidly as possible. But tasks should never be thrust upon them before they acquire sufficient muscular coordination to perform them.

Parents who make no attempt to love their children, discipline them, and teach them to be physically and emotionally independent, would probably be wiser to start saving money for psychiatrists and lawyers than for a college fund.

Dear friends,

We often hear this question: "Doesn't a funeral director become calloused to grief?" The answer to that question is, no.

One cannot enter a grief-stricken home without a real sense of sympathy, no matter what the circumstances may be.

We believe, though, that the funeral director can best express his sympathy by going about his work quietly and calmly. Confusion only adds to the strain.

Respectfully,

Art Of Being Topic For HWC

"The Art of Being" was the subject of a program by April St. John Lawrance as she spoke to the Heritage Woman's Club of Canyon Monday evening.

Mrs. Lawrance owns and operates the St. John Modeling School in Amarillo and received a B. A. degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

She worked with club members in demonstrating proper techniques of walking and standing. She also had for display and demonstration scarves and jewelry and discussed "hemlines, hairstyles, makeup and hats".

Mrs. Lawrance, who teaches a course in personal development at West Texas State University, has done extensive modeling both in the United States and abroad. She was in fashion coordinating for Jay Thorpe while in New York and was trained by the Powers School of Modeling in New York. She has done several extra things and bit parts in movies and a Broadway show "As The Girls Go".

In Washington, she opened clinics for Seventeen Magazine in Virginia, Maryland and Washington and did television and radio commercials for several firms in Washington. She taught at the Powers School in Washington and worked with Mary Stuart Price on launching Debs in Washington.

In addition, Mrs. Lawrance has done various charity group work and is a member of the Symphony Guild, Board of the Salvation Army, Red Cross and Capitol Speech Group. She has presented teen programs for numerous area high schools and has arranged fashion programs for many Amarillo business firms.

Introduced by Mrs. Phillip Brown, Mrs. Lawrance was presented with a parchment club scroll lettered "people seldom improve when they have no other model but themselves to copy after" at the close of the program. Mrs. Roy McGregor made the presentation for the club.

The program was preceded with a salad supper and club business session with Mrs. Jack Tillinghast, president, in charge.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Tillinghast presented an honorary club membership to Mrs. Don Vars, president of the Canyon Study Club, which was responsible for organizing the newest study club in Canyon.

Harriet Brandon, secretary, was in charge of roll call and the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer, Janet Brock, reported that the club now has in excess of $300 in the isolette fund for the hospital.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Nan Pool and the club collect was given by Carolyn Sadler. The fine arts report was by Beth McGehee, education report by Karen Stephens and federation report by Marita Crowder.

During the business session, the club had a report on a planned Christmas bazaar which is set for December 6. Mrs. Brandon reported to the club that all members are requested to participate and the bazaar will include holiday gifts and decorations as well as baked goods. Gift and decoration items are to be presented to the committee by December 3 and baked goods will be due December 5.

Several committee workshops were planned in preparation for the bazaar.

Next meeting for the club will be a Christmas Taster to be held December 15 at 1403 Hillcrest. Secret pal gifts will be exchanged and an in-club sale of holiday recipes will be held. Served for the affair will be samples of favorite Christmas goodies prepared by members. Hostesses will be Virginia Cotton, Mrs. George Loudder and Mrs. M. L. McGehee.

Monday's meeting was also "guest night" and those registered as guests for the occasion were Betty Masic, Marilyn Maynard, Sue Jackson, Marilyn Johnson, Marie Wieck, Jan Hubbard, Claudine Whithers and Lila Vars.

The meeting was held at the West Texas State Bank with Mrs. Phillip Brown, Mrs. Bob Chester, Mrs. Ronnie Gordon and Mrs. Carl Hollabaugh as hostesses.

Present were new members, Mrs. Johnny Hubbard, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. Fred Wieck, and Mrs. Claudine Whithers. Other members attending were Mesdames Ronnie Brock, Phillip Brown, Pat Brownd, Bob Chester, Virginia Cotton, Gene Crowder, Ronnie Gordon, Carl Hollabaugh, Wayne Lambert, George Loudder, Wilton Manley, M. L. McGehee, Roy McGregor, Bill Phillips, Eddie Poole, Nan Pool, Ivan Sadler, Phillip Stephens, Charles Thomas, Jack Tillinghast, Orrell Vise and Cecil Winn.

USC Informed Of NASA's Role

"When Russia launched their first satellite the attitude and ideas of space for the United States were changed overnight," related Dr. H. L. Cook of West Texas State University as he addressed the University Study Club of Canyon Friday afternoon.

The club met in room 310 of the University Complex South at West Texas State University.

Dr. Cook spoke of NASA scientists who were given "glowing offers by the Russians" before the U. S. Space program was instituted.

"The United States was not too concerned with the intercontinental ballistic missiles at that early date," said Dr. Cook.

After the first Russian launch, explained Dr. Cook, the United States quickly asked these same noted scientists to join the U. S. space effort. The United States already had the Redstone rocket, which had the capability of putting an object in orbit resulting in a "grapefruit" like sphere which was loaded with instruments and put into orbit.

"Since then the United States has spent billions of dollars in reaching the space goal," he stated.

His program also included chalkboard sketching in explaining to club members the relation of earth, atmosphere and objects in space. He explained the firing of rockets vertically and noted that the "entire mission is simulated from the beginning to end".

After the discussion, University Study Club members toured the math department of the university with Ronald Huffstutler, associate professor of math, conducting the tour.

The group then went to the computer center of Killgore Research Center where they were guided on a tour by Durwood Henderson.

The club's meeting was concluded at the Girl Scout House in Canyon where Mrs. Sam Jolly presided during a monthly business session and refreshments were served by hostesses including Mesdames Richmond Hales, Harold Erwin and Duane Howard.

Miss Hodges-Yarbrough Exchange Nuptial Vows

Miss Marilyn Hodges and Presley D. Yarbrough were united in marriage Saturday evening in double ring marriage vows at the original chapel First Baptist Church, Amarillo, with Dr. Winfred Moore officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin N. Hodges of Rt. 2, Canyon. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Homa C. Yarbrough of Martha, Oklahoma.

Fan shaped gladioli arrangements formed the altar setting for the ceremony. Bob Trout sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "More", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Marilyn Taylor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length wedding gown of white lace over champagne taffeta featuring unlined long lace sleeves. The wrap-around styled gown featured a bustline tie. The neckline of the gown was v-shaped with an overlay fold-away collar. Both the collar and sleeves were edged with lace. Her veil of illusion was held to a crown of seed pearls and lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and feathered carnations atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Donald Hollingsworth served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a pale pink street length dress complemented with darker pink shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of Better Times roses.

The father of the bridegroom, Homa C. Yarbrough, served as best man. Ushering were Jerry Yarbrough, brother of the bridegroom, and Kent Hodges, brother of the bride.

The home of the bride's parents was the site for the wedding reception after nuptials were confirmed. The three tiered wedding cake was served from a table featuring a centerpiece of white gladioli and pompons and a silver candelabra. In the houseparty for the reception were Mrs. Hershel Henderson of Plainview and Mrs. Dale Martin of Amarillo.

Following a wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the couple is at home in Amarillo.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School and graduated from International School of Hair Design. She is employed with her father at Marvin's Beauty Service in Amarillo.

The competition consists of preliminaries, semi-finals and finals, the latter two which require a grade average of 90 or above from three judges. The five semi-finalists are then heard again in the finals and students are placed according to grades. About 2,000 students from high school through college and advanced groups attended the contest.

A junior at Canyon High School, Miss Carpenter is a member of the All-Region Choir and candidate for the All-State Choir. She is a member, secretary and accompanist for the CHS Mixed Choir.

A constant turnover of patrons to the Gene Howe School chili supper lasted for several hours. The supper was sponsored as a fund raising project by the PTA.

Family Supper To Aid Educational Program

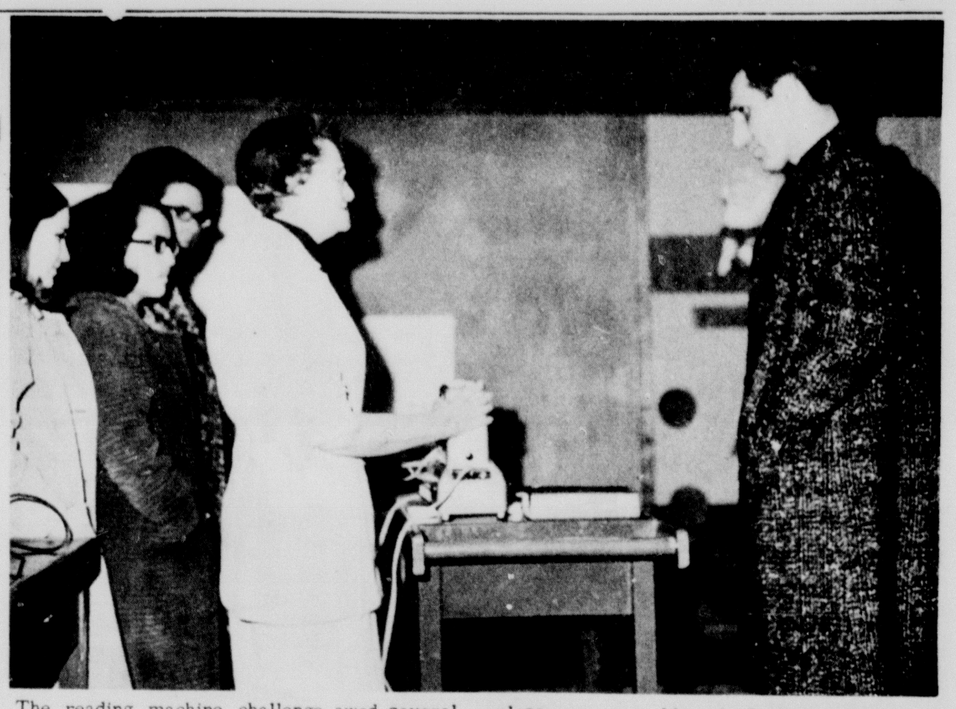
One of the largest groups to attend a function at the Gene Howe Elementary School filed through the doors for several hours in response to the annual Family Supper that was held Friday night.

More than 730 tickets were sold before the meal began and 111 persons paid for tickets at the door.

Proceeds from the supper are used by the Parent-Teacher Association to purchase needed materials to further the educational cause of the school. Items purchased in the past have been what is termed as "soft ware" which included films, records, and transparencies used on the various projectors and machines available to the classrooms.

The machinery available to the rooms are termed as the "hardware". These include such items as the opaque, overhead, film, filmstrip, Tach-X, and micro projectors, controlled reader, "Show and Tell", tape recorder, and record players.

Mrs. Ocoee Holt, curriculum director, stated that such machinery was very expensive and that the software that goes with each machine was also very costly. The fact that the PTA efforts have been able to help out in the past has greatly encouraged the program.



The reading machine challenge awed several parents when they discovered the speed and comprehension required by the students during classroom use. Mrs. A. B. Holt exhibited all the "hardware" used by the school.

Mrs. Ivey Terry Dies, Memorial Is Established

She also taught at Borger High School, Miami High School, Frank Phillips College, Emerson Elementary School and Horace Mann Junior High School in Amarillo.

Survivors include her husband, Stephen; children, Judy Strong of Austin, Richard Terry of Austin, Twink Terry of Alaska; three brothers and two sisters.

The Women's Physical Education Department at the university has established a memorial fund to be known as the Mrs. Ivey Terry Fund. Money in the fund will be used for a scholarship or loan fund and contributions may be made to the women's PE department.

Coaches head the chow line at hamburger feed given the Eagle varsity gridders Thursday evening at the home of Wayne Wirt. The well-fed Eagles went out to the Buffalo Bowl and walloped Muleshoe 55-6 the following evening.

Buffalo Coach Lambasts Writer

An Amarillo sports writer was lambasted Monday night by West Texas State University's head football coach at the weekly Buff Touchdown Club meeting.

Coach Joe Kerbel, saying the sportswriter had come to Canyon only twice in eight weeks to see Buffalo workouts, verbally assaulted the writer for articles which appeared earlier this week.

The article apparently stated that the Buffalo defensive unit was responsible for Saturday's West Texas win over Bowling Green.

"I don't know where he got that," Kerbel said. "He certainly never asked me."

Kerbel said the writer has "only been down here twice in eight weeks--once for about 10 minutes and again for about an hour and a half."

Kerbel had praise, however, for the Buffalo squad in their battle agains the Falcons.

"This game showed the continuing team progress," Kerbel said. "I think everybody had a part in this victory."

He cited Duane Thomas, who ran for more than 250 yards during the game, as an oustanding performer.

He also praised Daryl Wynn, a sophomore split end from Follett, for Wynn's pass catching and key blocking.

No outstanding players were named early this week from Saturday's game. Kerbel said all his coaching assistants were out of town recruiting and had not reviewed the game film for grading purposes.

However, following Saturday's game, area sportswriters named Thomas as outstanding offensive player.

Looking to the WTSU-Southern Mississippi game, Kerbel said the Mississippi team has lost five games this season--to Alabama, Ole Miss, Memphis and Mississippi State.

The Buffalo Touchdown Club will not meet next Monday night because there is no game this weekend. However, they will meet at 7:30 p.m. the following Monday in the University Comples South on the WTSU campus.

Texas Church Conference Appoints Rev. George Sallaway

Rev. George H. Sallaway of Canyon will become the second Roman Catholic priest to join the staff of the newly organized Texas Conference of Churches.

Rev. Sallaway, who is currently pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church in Canyon and chaplain for the Newman Center at West Texas State University, will join the staff as an associate director.

Effective December 15, the appointment was announced this week by Roy J. Cates, executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches.

Rev. Sallaway will be honored with a reception in Canyon November 30. He has been with the local church and student center on campus since June 1962 and formerly served parishes in Childress and Paducah.

In his new position, Rev. Sallaway will serve as assistant to the conference's executive director in various administrative capacities, with special responsibilities in the fields of education and special ministries. Rev. Sallaway succeeds Rev. Dr. Jesse D. Reber, who has served as interim associate director.

Father Larry Hemp will serve as interim for the St. Ann's Catholic Church here until the arrival of Father Jack Gist in mid-January. Father Gist is presently serving with the Blessed Sacrament Church in Amarillo.

Father Sallaway has been involved actively in ecumenical endeavors for many years and this past February was a delegate of the Diocese of Amarillo to the founding assembly of the Texas Conference of Churches.

He was a founding member of the Campus Christian Community at West Texas State University and currently serves as secretary-treasurer of the Canyon Pastors Association. Since 1966, Rev. Sallaway has served as a panelist for a weekly television program on KFDA-TV, Amarillo. He has taught courses in theology and scripture at Texas Tech College and West Texas State University since 1957.

Rev. Sallaway is author of "Follow Me: Be Human" and is writer and reviewer for a number of national religious publications. The 39-year-old priest received his A.B. degree from St. Thomas Seminary in Denver and his S.T.L. degree from Gregorian University in Rome. He was ordained a priest in 1954 at North American College in Rome.

The Texas Conference of Churches is a unique ecumenical organization with membership comprised of 40 judicatories of 15 Christian denominations in Texas, including the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox dioceses. Most Rev. John L. Morkovsky, bishop of the Diocese of Galveston-Houston, is president-designate of the conference.

The TCC was organized last February as a new ecumenical group made up of Protestant denominations, Roman Catholics and Greek Orthodox churches and replaces the older Texas Council of Churches which had been primarily Protestant.

Questioned about the appointment, Miss Mattie Sue Howell, education director for the First United Methodist Church of Canyon, related that the appointment "is a wonderful opportunity for Father Sallaway, although we will regret his leaving our community".

In his new role, Rev. Sallaway will be working toward the blending of innumerable programs that each church of the conference is now doing separately.

Buffs Wait Out Week Before Meeting SMU

Through five games Duane Thomas had rushed for 348 yards and his West Texas State University football squad had a 2-3 record.

Blocking through the center of the Buffalo line improved and Thomas started a rampage which was climaxed Saturday with a 253-yard effort against Bowling Green in a 28-12 victory.

Thomas has rushed for 683 yards in the last four games, all of which have been won by the Buffaloes. He ripped off 187 yards against New Mexico State in a 17-16 victory before a regionally telecast crowd.

The big Dallas senior totaled 84 yards against the University of Texas at Arlington in a 41-7 decision and rambled for 169 yards in a 28-20 victory over Western Michigan.

Thomas brought his season total to 1,031 yards with Saturday's efforts and thus became the third leading ground gainer in the school's history with 2,335 yards.

In front of Thomas are Eugene "Mercury" Morris with 3,561 yards and Bill Cross with 2,474 yards. The second place spot, with the season's final against Southern Mississippi remaining, is 139 yards away.

Quarterback Clarence Redic moved into the school's top 10 scorers with Saturday's game. Redic, who scored one touchdown and booted four straight conversions, took over the ninth position with 117 points.

Bob Ratliff held the ninth spot with 115 points and he drops to 10th. Jerry Richardson, who had 110 points, drops out of the top 10 scorers. Thomas is only one point behind Ratliff's total with 114 points for a career.

Saturday's victory brought the Buffs' season record to 6-3. They take this week off before closing in Hattisburg, Miss., against Southern Mississippi.

Head coach Joe Kerbel gave his Buffaloes Sunday and Monday off before starting practice again Tuesday.

For the team, seasonal statistics show that the Buffs have outscored thier opponents, but have allowed more first downs.

West Texas has amassed 155 first downs compared to 191 by nine opponents. WTSU has passed for 42 and run for 100.

The Buffs have lost 14 fumbles while gaining nine of the opponents'. They have been penalized 623 yards compared to opponents' 458.

By scoring 201 points against 148 by opponents, the Buffs have gained their 6-3 season so far.

But the story is not all told in the number of points the offensive unit puts on the board.

In interception returns, Troy Anderson leads Buff defenders with nine picked-off aerials, totalling 47 yards. He is followed by Raymond Brown, who has stolen four opposition passes. In totals, the West Texans have intercepted 23 passes for 229 yards and three touchdowns, while losing only 13 passes for 116 yards and no touchdowns.

Brown also leads the Buffs in the number of punt returns. He has grabbed 11 and run for 61 yards. Ralph Anderson has taken 10 for 105 yards.

On total offense, the Buffs have run 646 plays for 3,133 yards and 201 points. Opponents have totaled 697 plays for 3,285 yards and 148 points.

Defensively, Harold Stuart, linebacker, is at the top of the list with 42 unassisted tackles and 77 assists. He has recovered one fumble, blocked a kick.

He is followed by linebacker Bill McKinney, who is credited with 36 unassisted tackles and 96 assists. McKinney has grabbed two opponent passes and returned his interceptions four yards.

Bible Week Plans Made

"The Bible has the answer for the cynicism of our day and age," Rev. J. Frank Peery, minister of The United Methodist Church said today in announcing plans for the observance of Bible Sunday on November 23, launching National Bible Week through Thanksgiving Week and Worldwide Bible Reading Thanksgiving to Christmas.

Referring to a conversation Jesus Christ had with His disciples, the Methodist minister quoted John 8:31, "if you obey my teaching you are really my disciples; you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free."

Many are returning to the habit of daily Bible reading today, he said. This is especially true among the members of the Armed Forces. The American Bible Society reports an even greater demand for Scriptures from U. S. military chaplains in 1969 than last year when more than two million copies were distributed to servicemen.

Churches in Canyon and throughout the world will join in the observance of National Bible Week and Worldwide Bible Reading, he added. The theme for this year is "Truth for Modern Man."

People who do not have a Bible or New Testament may purchase an inexpensive copy at The United Methodist Church on Bible Sunday. Worship services are scheduled for 8:45 and 10:50 a.m.

Girl Eagles Win As Everyone Plays

Canyon's Girl Eagles chalked up their third victory of the young basketball season Saturday by mauling Ralls 83-25.

"I played everybody and I thought everybody got after it while they were in there," Coach Bob Schneider said, "but it's hard to tell what you need to work on after a game like that."

"I really don't think Ralls was all that bad. Our defense played real well and everybody gave a real good effort while they were in there."

Cheryl Davis led the scoring barrage with 30 points while Linda Lehman and Jan Sternenberg backed her up with 16 points apiece.

According to the coaches' grading system, which has nothing to do with the number of points scored, Jan Sternenberg and Jenna Thompson on the guard end played the best game. Each had a grade of 15. A grade of 8 is considered a good game.

Canyon's Girl Eagles defeated Friona 44-26 Tuesday night while the junior varsity downed the Friona JVs 60-33 after trailing 17-16 at halftime.

Head Coach Bob Schneider was not satisfied with the performance, but gave credit to the Friona team.

"I didn't feel we played well but part of that was Friona. They got after us pretty good," Schneider said.

Friona trailed only 9 points at halftime and edged within six points of the Girl Eagles several times during the third quarter.

"We finally broke it open in the fourth quarter and I played everybody the final 4 1/2 minutes of the game," Schneider said.

Cheryl Davis was the leading scorer with 16 points. Linda Lehman, who had the best grade under the coaches' scoring system, bucketed 13 points, Jan Sternenberg had 9 points and Cam Davis put in 5.

Coach Schneider said Linda Dudenhoeffer and Jenna Thompson gave good efforts on the guard end.

"They caused a lot of turnovers with their pressing," he said. "The forwards weren't shooting well, but they fought the backboards pretty good and got that third and fourth shot.

"We had the most competition against Friona that we've had all season and I think we were a little tight and tense. But I was pleased that they kept their poise and they made some pretty good plays when we needed them. However, it was not our best game by any means."

JV Coach Peggy Smith said she was pleased with the way her girls came back in the second half after trailing by one point at the end of the first half.

"We had trouble making them under the basket, but in the second half they did a real fine job. The defense did us a good job. Everybody calmed down and played much better in the second half."

She said Roxie Knox, Connie Stark and Julie Coffman played very well on the guard end.

Kris Tucker and Lynett Slack shared scoring honors with 14 points apiece while Ginger Currie and Marilyn Read contributed 8 and 9 respectively.

The Girl Eagle basketballers, both varsity and junior varsity will play Hale Center Saturday with the first game scheduled for 5 p.m. here.

They were originally scheduled to play Silverton Saturday but that game was canceled because of schedule conflicts inadvertantly created last year by the Hale Center coach, Eagle Coach Bob Schneider said.

The Girl Eagles will be seeking their fifth straight win of the season. They have victories so far over Gruver, Ralls, Quitaque and Friona.

Eagle Cagers Win Scrimmage

Eagle basketball coach B. B. Kendrick said his cagers did not particularly do good in a scrimmage Saturday against the Caprock Longhorns of Amarillo.

The teams scrimmaged six quarters with the Eagles coming out well ahead in the scoring. The accumulative scores over the first four quarters was Canyon 73, Caprock 50. In the fifth and sixth stanzas, the Eagles outscored the Horns 44-33.

"We looked bad, overall," Kendrick said. "I'd say we looked good offensively in the first quarter, but we were poor after that. The defense looked good at times. Not real good, but not real bad."

He indicated there was plenty of work ahead before the Nov. 25 opener against Amarillo High School.

Jerry Landrum led the Eagle scorers with 22 points. Ronnie Hager hit 20 and Lynn Salmon, 12.

JVs Have 8 Down

Eight down and one to go! That's the way it is for the Junior Varsity Eagles who hope to clinch an undefeated, untied season tonight by making Perryton's B team their ninth straight victim.

Kick-off time is 7 p.m. at Phillips.

Coach Clark Mires said his JV boys are tired, beat up and that some of them are sick "but they want this one bad."

The team told Mires last spring that their goal this fall was to go undefeated and thus far they have crushed all opposition in championship sytle. In eight games the junior varsity has rolled up 390 points while its defense has held the opposition to a mere 12 points. The only team to actually stay in contention during a game with the Eagles was the tough Hereford junior varsity which bowed 13-0.

Of the Perryton game tonight, Mires said it is the only game this season in which he did not feel his gridders had a 50-50 chance to win.

Scouts Take Atomic Trip

A council wide honor court will be held Saturday evening for the presentation of certificates and clinic patches for those Boy Scouts of the Llano Estacado Council who have completed requirements for a special "atomic energy merit badge".

The court will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Polk Street Methodist Church.

Requirements for the badge were completed recently following a four week-end study course and a trip to the atomic energy sites in New Mexico last week end.

Local scouts taking the trip from Troop 66 were Randy Middleton, Jamie Middleton, Richard Fulton, Allen Mardis, and Chris Moreland. Representing Canyon Troop 31 on the trip were Dan McGlasson, Johnny Hall, Mike Oldham, Larry Vaughn and David May.

Troop 66 members Ernest Williams and Ricky Rogers also completed the atomic energy workshop course, but did not take the trip.

attending to the plight of the small towns, we will have only rural wastelands and urban slums," he said.

Smith said about 70 per cent of the residents of Texas live on one percent of the available land space.

"In Texas, approximately 2 million people live in small towns," he said. "If surveys are correct, many more would like to live in small communities, but cannot for lack of opportunity."

He said the state needs "a balanced economic development and a balanced distribution of population."

The governor said he has "no misty-eyed notion of reversing the trend of Texans migrating to big cities.

"I have a more practical objective- offering Texans a wider range of choices of where to live and work."

To achieve this goal, Gov. Smith outlined a newly-initiated Texas Communities Tomorrow Program.

"It is a program designed to assist the community in achieving its own goals, objectives or projects started at the local level," he said. "It is a new approach to bring the full knowledge and resources of all state agencies to bear on the problems of the small community."

The governor said the program gives small communities technical assistance and provides coordination of public and private resources in a locally developed program.

Headed by the Division of the State-Local Relations, the program will have as basic missions the following:

To familiarize the small towns with state and federal programs.

To assure that the small community needs are recognized and reflected in executive policies and decisions.

To provide assistance in locating financial and technical know-how.

To inform the communities of available assistance through correspondence, newsletters, conferences and meetings.

To develop a team of small town specialists to work with communities.

To carry out this program through liaison and coordination with other agencies.

The governor called on the people of Canyon to make the program work.

Dignitaries attending the luncheon included State Rep. Tom Christian of Claude, E. L. Short of Tahoka and Hudson Moyer of Amarillo.

Following his speech, Gov. Smith flew to Hansford County to dedicate a new feed yard.

Earlier in the day, he was escorted to Canyon by members of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce Red Carpet Committee and Randall County Sheriff Slim Johnston.

tion to prevent school officials from expelling her daughters last Friday if they wore arm bands, which they did. The temporary injunction was granted for Friday only and enjoined the school officials from taking action against only those two students.

Those students who chose to leave school on Oct. 15 rather than remove their arm bands had three points taken off their grade average for the six weeks' period in accordance with school policy on unexcused absences.

Asked whether, in view of the court's ruling Friday, those grade points would be restored to the students who left school, Jacobs said, "No they won't."

Judge Dean, when asked about the same thing last Friday, said the restoration of the grade points would be in "the spirit" of the ruling, but pointed out that he did not rule on that point particularly because it was not included in the petition of the plaintiffs and therefore was not an issue of the proceedings in which the injunction was granted.

Jacobs said the subtraction of the grade points was a part of another school policy. "When a student is absent without being ill or without having an excuse the points are taken off. That's going back to our absenteeism policy. No, those grades won't be given back."

Jacobs said the younger of the Allen girls was taken to the principal's office following last week's injunction hearing because when she returned to school she began passing out arm bands in class.

The temporary injunction prevented the girls from being expelled for wearing arm bands providing they did nothing else to disrupt classes, but Jacobs said he felt that her handing out arm bands in class while class was in session was disrupting.

He said her books were brought to her in the principal's office so she could study there. He also said that neither girl was considered absent without an excuse Friday.

"She was in the principal's office at our request and therefore she was not absent from school. As far as I know the girl here at high school wore her arm band, went on to her classes and nothing out of the ordinary happened the rest of the day."

Selden Hale, one of the attorneys representing Mrs. Allen, said he had not talked to Mrs. Allen about the temporary injunction since it was granted and did not know if any further action would be taken.

"We've adopted a wait-and-see attitude," Hale said. "If no further trouble occurs, it'll probably die out.

"There are some things we could do, such as seek a permanent injunction in federal court, but we really haven't talked abut it with the Allens."

Judge Dean warned last Friday that his decision did not license anybody to disrupt the school system.

". . . it is not a license to riot, disrupt or create any confusion. . . The Supreme Court has approved silent passive expression of opinion unaccompanied by any disorder and this court will expect that part of the order to be observed, too."

erate for a period of time without an executive committee.

Judge Carroll Brown was appointed by Mills at the last meeting to present a recommendation on the committee appointments.

Brown said he feels the executive committee should be smaller than five men, the limit set in the by-laws of the PRPC.

However, members of the PRPC agreed that a five-man executive committee is not needed at present.

Mills told the commission that to abide by the request of Texas Gov. Preston Smith, seven new committees need to be formed to comply with the governor's Goals for Texas program.

Already, the commission has created six of the 13 committees required. Others which must be established include transportation, Education, Economy, Government, Housing, Human Resources and Natural Resources.

Mills gave a brief report to the commission on a meeting last week in Shamrock of several governmental units from the eastern portion of the Panhandle. He indicated they desire to meet with the PRPC in the near future to decide whether to form their own regional planning commission or join with the PRPC.

Following the regular session, the PRPC went behind closed doors to hold an executive session to discuss committee appointments.

The commission will meet at noon next Wednesday at Howard Johnson's East in Amarillo.

city. But, in camparison with past years, it was considered a moderate vote.

A near-record vote of 750 was cast last May when residents turned down a plan to install medians and left-turn signals on 23rd Street in Canyon.

Voting Tuesday was light throughout much of the day until after 5 p.m.

At 9:30 a.m. about 43 persons had voted and by 2 p.m. about 210 had cast ballots. Prior to 5 p.m., 285 voted. Between 5 and 6 p.m. about 150 cast ballots to bring the total to 500. After 6 p.m. only about 46 persons voted. Three persons voted by absentee ballot.

Former Canyon Man Seeks Statute Change

A former Canyon man, seeking his freedom from the state penitentiary, is trying to make a statute which applies only to felonies also apply to misdemeanors, Criminal Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said Wednesday.

Marvin Otis Hutton, 26, was on felony probation when he was convicted on Oct. 2, 1968 of driving while his license was suspended. Subsequently, his probation was revoked and he was sentenced to five years in prison.

Hutton, about three weeks ago, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus contending he was being illegally and unconstitutionally restrained because the felony conviction for which he was placed on probation was not a legal conviction.

Hutton was convicted in Randall County Court on Oct. 11, 1965 of driving while intoxicated, a misdemeanor. Two years later, on Oct. 18, 1967 he was again convicted of driving while intoxicated, but this time the state's charge against him was DWI, second offense, a felony. In both instances he pleaded guilty in open court. After pleading guilty to the felony charge he was placed on five years' probation, which was later revoked because of the conviction for driving while his license was suspended. One of the terms of his probation was that he violate no laws of this or any other state.

In a hearing on his petition last week in 181st District Court he and his lawyer, Rhett Plank, contended that the felony conviction was no good because the first driving while intoxicated conviction was void. Plank argued that if the first conviction was void, then the later driving while intoxicated charge could not be a felony because it would not constitute a second offense.

Plank based his contention that the first DWI conviction was void on the fact that Hutton did not have a lawyer at the time he was convicted.

Hutton testified that he did not remember if he was advised of his right to counsel or not, but Plank said that Article 1.13 of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure should apply in misdemeanor cases as well as felony cases. The statute provides that a felony conviction without the presence of defense counsel is void for the purposes of enhancement. Enhancement in a criminal case means the state is alleging an offense to be more serious because of prior convictions of offenses of the same or similar nature.

A charge of DWI, second offense, is a felony under the laws of Texas, but simply put it is merely an enhancement of the misdemeanor charge of DWI, first offense in that the state alleges the second offense to be a more serious offense than the first.

There are other misdemeanor offenses in which the law allows more severe penalties for each subsequent conviction of the same crime. The law also allows a person convicted of a particular felony to be more severely punished if convicted a second time of the same offense or one similar, provided the state seeks to enhance the second offense. A person with as many as two prior felony convictions of the same or similar nature may be convicted as a habitual criminal and sentenced to life in prison.

Since there is a statute that renders a felony conviction without the presence of defense counsel void for purposes of enhancement in future prosecutions, Plank seeks to make that statute applicable also to the misdemeanor offense of DWI, first offense.

If the State Court of Criminal Appeals upholds this contention it would mean that nobody could be convicted of the felony charge DWI, second offense, if he did not have an attorney present at his first conviction--even if he voluntarily and intelligently waived his right to counsel prior to the first conviction.

Plank supported his contentions with appellate court cases in which the courts held that the constitution makes no distinction between felony and misdemeanor and an accused is entitled to counsel in any case in which conviction can mean he will be deprived of his liberty by confinement.

Judge Don Dean heard the testimony and will send his findings of fact to the Court of Criminal Appeals, which will then either grant or deny the petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

County, and that this was the understanding of not only the Commissioners Court but the Citizens of Randall County as well, and because the proposed cost of the PRPC appears to be rising each time the Executive Committee meets, I move that we table the request of the PRPC to contribute funds at this time."

Before Monday's meeting, Randall commissioners had indicated they might completely drop out of the PRPC.

When asked what the court's action will be if the PRPC refuses to accept Butler's resolution, Butler said he had no comment.

He said, however, that "these are our conditions. As such they are the only way we can be a member."

Amarillo Chief of Police Wylie Alexander also appeared before the court, requesting $6,000 as their share of a cooperative drug-abuse fight.

Alexander said the money will be used to finance two more under-cover agents for the Amarillo Police Department.

The plan was proposed about a month ago in Amarillo when representatives from Amarillo, Canyon and Potter and Randall Counties met in Amarillo. Amarillo and the two counties were asked to pay $6,000 apiece for the undercover agents and Canyon was asked to pay $2,000.

Randall County Sherff Slim Johnston, while saying he feels the plan a good one, was hesitant to say how much good the two additional men could accomplish in the county.

"I feel like this should help out, but I've got a problem, too," he said. "I may need some more help. I feel like if the county feels like helping it should be in the county."

The sheriff said he doesn't feel the $6,000 should be taken from his budget.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher asked Alexander to explain how it was decided that Amarillo and Potter and Randall Counties should pay an equal share of the costs.

Alexander said the budget was figured on an equal basis.

"I don't see that we're very equal," said Dowlen. "One evaluations, for instance, Potter county has about $150 million and we have about $50 million. Population wise, Potter county has considerable more than Randall County."

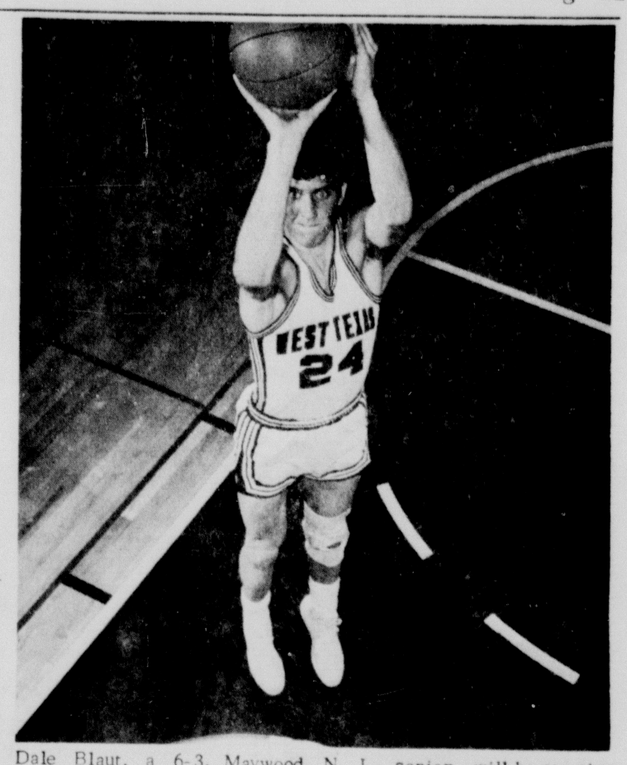
The court tabled action on the request pending further investigation.

In other action, the court discussed briefly a torte law which becomes effective Jan. 1. They also discussed the recent withdrawal of coverage under workmen's compensation of elected county officials.

George Blackwell, county insurance agent, said since elected officials have been withdrawn, a new policy needs to be initiated. He indicated premiums on the policy would be about $20,000.

The court, in final action, let a contract for 5,000 abstract cards to Haley Printing of Canyon for $153.85.

Commissioners tabled the opening of bids for 10,000 envelopes to be used in mailing license plates.



Dale Blaut, a 6-3, Maywood, N. J., senior, will be starting for West Texas State's basketballing Buffs this season. Blaut hit 117 of 267 field goal attempts last season for a 43.8 per centage. He hit 59 of 77 free throws for a respectable 76.6 per cent. Blaut will be playing with the varsity Buffs against the freshmen tonight in the fieldhouse.

Council To Hear Hunsley

Canyon City Commissioners will again consider a request by Arch Hunsley to extend sewer and water lines to a new apartment complex in Hunsley Hills addition at their regular meeting today.

Hunsley appeared before the commission with his attorney, Rhett Plank, two weeks ago and said an agreement had previously been made to extend the lines to the property upon completion of the addition.

However, Mayor Paul Lindsey said the previous agreement may not have been legal. The request was tabled until City Attorney Elton Cox could be consulted.

The city commission is also expected to consider lowering the speed limit on Spur 48 from U. S. 87 to the east city limits from 45 miles per hour to 30 miles per hour.

The commission meets at 7 p.m. in the City Hall annex.

Chalk Revival Continues Now

Revival services are underway this week at Southside Baptist Church in Canyon where Rev. Mearl Moore, pastor of First Missionary Church of Morton, is conducting the series.

The revival will continue through Sunday, November 23.

Rev. Moore uses colored chalk drawings to illustrate his sermons and highlights of the drawings are brought out with the use of ultra-violet lights. The drawings are made during the sermon and given in order to produce step-by-step understanding of the subject offered.

A nursery is provided for the services which are set at 7:30 p.m. nightly with the Sunday services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The services are open to the public, according to Rev. Bobby Myers, local pastor.

Children's Crusade Set

A "children's crusade" and revival began Tuesday night at the Assembly of God Church in Canyon with the Pratt family in charge.

The programs, which will continue through Sunday evening, are at 7 p.m. nightly.

The Pratt family gives a unique presentation of the gospel through special singing, puppet acts, chalk drawings, Bible stories, scripture memorization and spiritual adventure, according to Rev. A. J. Pettit of the local church.

The public is invited for any of the services.

Secretaries To Tour Plant

The Tierra Blanca chapter of National Secretaries Association will tour the Holly Sugar Plant in Hereford Saturday in conjunction with the NSA chapter of Hereford.

The tour is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. after which the local secretaries will be guests at a luncheon in Sugarland Mall, Hereford.

Witnesses To Circuit Assemblies

Meetings and activities of Jehovah's Witnesses in Canyon have been suspended this week end for the semi-annual circuit assembly to be held at Stephen F. Austin Junior High School in Amarillo.

Rayford Loudder, Local minister of Jehovah's Witnesses, said a number of the 800 delegates will be from Canyon. The assembly will include Bible Study meetings, ministry school, service meeting, Bible lecture and Watchtower Bible Study meeting.

Activities in Canyon will resume Tuesday at the home of Rayford Loudder, 1106 Eighth.
